The Free System.

Suppose the managers of a woolen mill were to advertise that in future they would supply the public with woolen blankets for nothing, and that mill was a joint stock company; wouldn't the stockholders at once call a meeting and boot the crazy managers out of the back door and put in some practical business man? The free advertising joint on King street is a joint stock affair and the stock during the Anti-Chinese excitement was scattered all over the city. How do the stockholders who paid good money for their stock, with the assurance of dividends etc., like the idea of seeing it run as a gratuitous advertising sheet on their money?

It would be quite admissible for an entire owner of a paper to run it that way, as no one would lose but himself, but in managing the affairs of a company, such a course is a trifle rough on the stockholders. At the same time, not any more so than before, as not one of them ever scanned the color of a dividend.

If the cheap John organ will only take all the free advertising and leave us the pay work we would be hoggish indeed to ask for more.

QUERY.—What would the free advertiser charge per square if he were running the only paper in Ormsby?

Our esteemed King street contemporary is nothing if not imitating the APPEAL. Some time ago this paper announced that all official advertising would be legal rates or nothing. That's just the other fellows motto, only this paper gets the legal rates and the King street party (with the same motto,) takes nothing.

The Over and Monthly.

The Overland Monthly for May will contain articles upon "The Mission of the Knights of Labor, by Irwin M. Seott," treating of the phases of the labor movement; "Causes of the Pure and Bannock War," by Maj. Gen. O. O. Howard—the first of a series of Indian War Papers; "The Mineral Resources of California" by Henry De Groot, an exhaustive treatise of the mines and mining interests of the southern half of the State; "Grandma Bascom's Story of San Jose in '49," by M. H. Field, a vivid and picturesque sketch of early times in the Santa Clara Valley, rich with quaint humor and highly realistic in treatment; "Agriculture along the Rio Grande" by O. E. Cromwell, an interesting article upon the capabilities of the central New Mexican Valley. "In a Mining Kitchen" by "I. H. B." is an interesting sketch of Pioneer Days, "Pantacost Colony" and "Chata Chinita" are continued; short stories, bright sketches, poems, reviews and a supplement upon Albuquerque and the region tributary thereto complete the number.

"He Cursed Like a Pirate."

The other day a man who came to this city from Vermont put up at the St. Charles Hotel, and announced to the Brayeraft Bros. that he had some of the finest Vermont maple syrup in his trunk that was ever made. It was the pure article. While dilating on the beauties of the Vermont brand of syrup he opened his trunk and suddenly began to "curse like a pirate," as the boys said. The stopper of the can had come out and the syrup had spread all over his clothes. It had ruined an $85 suit, also from Vermont, and spoiled a dozen shirts, collars, neckties, etc. The language of the Vermont tourist cannot with propriety be printed in this journal.

Absent Mindedness.

A Reno lawyer is charged with a curious sort of absent mindedness. He was to make a call with his wife one evening. He withdrew to his room to change his clothes, and being gone an unusually long time, his wife went to see what detained him and found him in bed. He had taken off his business suit, forgotten what he was going to do, and, from force of habit, probably, retired for the night.

Art Lovers Attention.

J. B. Monaco, the artist, will leave Carson about the middle of May. Those wishing to have a good crayon or oil portrait made will do well to give their order at once. Studio at Marston's Photograph Gallery. a22 1m

High Art in Stockton.

The Stockton Mail gives an extended description of a painting recently placed on exhibition in that City. It says:

The painting is a novelty in the art line. It is the work of a gentleman at present residing in this city, who created it from a recollection of a coal oil accident. A friendly warning announces to the passer by that the painting is "A warning to those who light fires with kerosene oil. An original painting from memory of an accident which took place at Homestead, Pennsylvania."

The background of the work is a prairie. In the foreground, occupying nearly the whole canvas, lies a woman in her shift. She lies on her back in a half-sitting, half-reclining posture,—braced up by her elbows. The chemise is afire at the hips, and the flame mounts up to the height of several feet. Her body below the flame is naked, barring a pair of stockings falling loosely below the knees. The bare legs are handsomely contoured, and might serve even a Venus well; but they are baked, blistered and cracked by the fire which has discolored, and is slowly roasting her to death. Her lips are parted. Her face is pinched with sharp agony. Her eyes are maniacal. At her feet lies a battered tin kerosene can.

There is great excitement in Stockton over the picture, the public taking sides for, and against it. It must be about as bad as that big picture of "Venus and Sampson" in Bryson's saloon.

We Decline.

Yesterday the APPEAL received a letter from a California beer firm offering to send us a keg of beer a week if the APPEAL would advertise the article. This paper does not advertise any California beer, and would advise its readers to drink nothing but beer brewed in this State.

California beer has no charms for us, when Klein's Coast renowned article is only a few blocks away. Our idea is to boycott California beer entirely and build up home industries in Nevada.

No No!

A TRIBUNE reporter paid a visit to the State Prison for the purpose of seeing for himself the articles inventoried by the late Warden and refused to be accepted by the present one, and for the present contents himself by saying that the new Warden did just what any man of ordinary business sense would have done, demand an investigation for self protection. More on this subject in the future.—Tribune.

Brilliant Idea.

A man in Los Angeles has discovered a new idea in pumping water. He attaches his machinery to a big swing, and has twelve children. He warns the children not to use the swing, and also warns the neighbors' children. The whole block swing in his yard, while unconsciously are pumping about 50,000 gallons of water a day for irrigation purposes.

Washington Society in a Flutter.

WASHINGTON, April 25.—A rumor is being circulated here that the British Minister, Sir Lionel West, is soon to marry the daughter of Senator Mitchell of Oregon. The foundation for the rumor is said to be owing to the fact that the Minister has invited Miss Mitchell to accompany himself and daughters to England for the Summer.

When Will it End.

Why is it that the Capital Commissioners persist, when ordering goods for the State, in sending to San Francisco over the heads of home merchants. The merchant taxpayers ought to have the first chance. This ignoring of Nevada merchants by Nevada office holders is an outrage and the APPEAL proposes to ventilate it in future.

Beware the Boodler.

The police ought to keep a sharp look out for "boodlers" between now and the next election. They are running around nights to snatch Mugwump voters and murder them on the outskirts of the city, so that they cannot vote on Monday. Everybody beware of boodlers.

A Dumb Bell.

Some days ago the APPEAL inquired of ex-Warden Bell if he had printed the letter from the Prison Commissioners just as they wrote it, and he has not as yet seen fit to reply.

ALL SORTS.

—Wizard Oil at Geo. Thaxter's.
—Senator Forbes, of Hawthorne is in town.
—The Glenbrook mills will start up next week.

—The real bona fide Summer seems to be here.
—Rev. J. L. Woods left for California last evening.

—The daily mail to Glenbrook will shortly be resumed.

—A good, strong market is predicted before many weeks.

—An appeal has been made for a new trial in the Goldenson case.

—Blumenthal & Cohn have just received a lot of children's waists.

—The damage to Senator Stewart's house has been appraised at $907.

—Virginia's big score, 874, beaten Sunday by a score of 876 by the Carson Guard.

—Dr. Webster, of Virginia City, was thrown from a horse yesterday and seriously injured.

—Judge Field says he is not a Presidential candidate. "Nobody axed you sir," she said.

—There is talk of a new hotel to be built at the lake that will throw all the rest in the shade.

—Yellow is the fashionable color for houses this year, with facings the same shade as the roof.

—One good thing about Tennyson's Jubilee Ode, it reads just as well backwards as forward, up as down.—Alta.

—The United States Secret Service officers, late on Saturday night arrested two women in New York, for counterfeiting.

—Herr Most says that the Blackwell Island jail is the worst he ever saw. As an authority on jails Herr Most stands second to none.

—The parties charged with the commission of building a vault for the Land Office in the Capitol building have finally concluded to obey the law and put in the vault.

—A city girl saw a cow milked for the first time. When the pail had been filled she stepped up, stroked the slick side of the animal and exclaimed: Why, she's just chuck full of it, isn't she?

—Electricity is used now to remove hair from a woman's lip. One of the APPEAL compositors says that he always removes it when he hears the old lady's step in the hall and needs no electricity.

—Mr. Sping, correspondent of the Post, says that the air of Nevada is like the best champagne. This idea in a few years from now, will be better known and Nevada will have a big population of people who will come here for health as well as recognition.

—It is stated on good authority that C. C. Powning, of Reno, has withdrawn from the Presidential contest in favor of James G. Blaine. Senator Jones has the dispatch of withdrawal but it will not be published until Sherman gets back from his tour of the South.

—It is stated that a combination with the Union Pacific Salt Company at its head, has been formed for the purpose of raising the price of coarse salt from $2 50 to $7 50 per ton. If this is so it will give the Desert Salt Company, at White Plains, a chance to do a living business.

—Simmons the manager of the Del Monte Hotel has been arrested on the charge of setting the place afire, and it turns out that he is an ex convict with a most unsavory record. Of course nothing will appear in the San Francisco dailies, they having recently adopted a policy of silence in such cases.

—Mr. Hugh Mohan says that there were five Reno Journal representatives on the floor at the Pythian Ball in Virginia City, and none for the Carson papers. Exactly; after the five Journal reporters froze to the complimentary tickets the Carson editors had to stay at home from lack of invitations. Next time we hope the Journal will give some other paper a ticket or so.
